EDUCATIONAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Why was Paul Hervey?

Why was the great secret of success, that you may be you and your may be.

When was the battle of Perryville fought?

A country school is a school of the university.

Who was called "the tall ruler"?

Does he still live?

Which army was victorious in the battle of Murfreesboro?

Who was it, "We have met the enemy and they are ours"?

Who were the two greatest U. S. Generals in the Mexican war?

Convince your scholars by your conduct that they are sincere friends.

Be sure your pupils understand your questions before instituting an answer.

Subscribe for and read the Herald. You will be greatly benefited thereby.

It could be said that some teachers were as active in their relations as in their classes for the same.

Have a system of questioning all your own. Be yourself. Act naturally in anything, or you are a failure.

There are seven primary grades of the solar spectrum. They are violet, indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange, and red.

Thou, young scholar, to think, and don't be so foolishly afraid, that it don't always be a thing just as you do.

The literary society at the Bluff has for its subject of debate, "Marble Faun." Well, we reckon that they will all be won to the negative.

A trustee who has a proper appreciation of the dignity and honor of the office will attend every institute and every teachers' association within his reach.

Some of the chief causes of failure to have good schools in a neighborhood are a want of interest on the part of the parent, frequent changes of teachers, diversity of test-books.

Teach your children the habit of observation. I don't mean that they should try to see everything, but that they should be clear observers of what lies around them.

A teacher who makes the school room pleasant and attractive, who gives good order, who shows a genuine and lively interest in his school, never complains of poor scholars.

One sign of a good teacher is the ability to stand the test of union and subordination in any state of combination. Remember the scholastic and the teacher are an article of food.

Be pleasant in voice and manner in all your communications with your scholars; then when you speak, you are heard, and you are sure to get it. And, oh, how cheerfully it will be rendered.

If parents would make a frequent habit of dropping in at the school and spending an hour or two listening to the exercises, they would have better, and in the long run cheaper scholars.

Don't use bribes as incentives to your scholars; even if you succeed in getting them, your pupils will not be making them do from false motives. By bribes is meant rewards, prizes, etc.

The meaning of words is a too much neglected exercise in our schools. It is so important a subject that it is a great wonder our scholars, wide-awake teachers do not give it that prominence in the curriculum of their school that it deserves.

If you can discuss a sentence, you can actually read and understand it. Knowledge precedes the diagrammatic. We thus diagramming a good exercise for pupils, because by their diagrams the teacher can tell just where their knowledge fails.

Now that civil government is introduced into the curriculum of our schools, we look forward to the time when we will be a nation of lawyers. They will be a nation of lawyers, and they will be a nation of lawyers.

They will be a nation of lawyers, and they will be a nation of lawyers. They will be a nation of lawyers, and they will be a nation of lawyers.

Every school room should be furnished with desks with enough to accommodate two pupils so that every scholar could read or write or draw without the distracting influence of the classmate.

In former times the benches were made of split sawn lumber, split with the grain, so that while some sat upright, others lay propped on the split side, would have to incline forward or backward at about an angle of 45 degrees from the floor.

Cast Your Bread Upon the Waters. We were the first to suggest the "Teachers' Association," and though for a long time it appeared as if the suggestion would be fruitless it now appears that the teachers of our county are beginning to see the advantage of such associations and are holding them in the various districts of the county. It is well. May the good day be accomplished by agreement, and have now another suggestion to make, and that is teachers' suggestion. We will now give you a suggestion to the teachers take the matter to thought. Plans and other matters in regard to the matter will be discussed hereafter.

A TYPE-SETTING MACHINE.

Editor: Monday, Greenville, After Your Labor, Invents a Machine That Will Make Him a Millionaire.

Mr. H. C. Shanks, editor of the Greenville Daily News, has been very diligently with his brother for a year on a typographic machine, and has now succeeded in inventing what they think is a perfect machine. Mr. Shanks' business here now is to have a model made, which will be sent to the United States Patent Office.

Let us patent some parts of the machine he has already secured. Most typewriter machines are made in their mechanism and hence too expensive for use except in the largest newspaper offices. Mr. Shanks has succeeded in making, however, a very simple machine, which can be sold at $200, and will, therefore, be in the reach of every country printing office. This machine will do the labor of three average compositors.

The common-sense which the inventor has shown in the machine is a full measure of success, and it is well that he should be so successful.

Common Sense. Should be used in attempting to cure that very common ailment, rheumatism. It originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do no permanent good. The common-sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no more powerful remedy than Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is a blood purifier, and it is a blood purifier.
